Hitler Incited Jap Pearl Harbor Plan

By WES GALLAGHER

NUERNBERG, Nov. 26 (AP)—Evidence designed to show German leaders incited Japan to make the attack on Pearl Harbor was placed before the international war crimes tribunal today by American prosecutors.

The documents were added by the tribunal to the mounting pile of Hitler's war plans which included cold-blooded schemes to assassinate the German envoy in Prague as a pretext to invade Czechoslovakia, overrun Poland, seize the Low Countries and, ultimately, attack Russia.

American prosecutors in the trial of 20 leading Nazis produced stenographic notes of talks between Hitler and Jap Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka several months before the Pearl Harbor attack and asserted "our evidence will show these Nazi conspirators incited and kept up a force that could reasonably be expected to result in war with the United States."

Asst. U. S. Prosecutor Sidney S. Alderman produced a memorandum signed by a German Gen. Thomas saying war with Russia was necessary to provide food for the German army. Alderman charged the German high command's plan was to systematically starve millions of Russians in occupied areas as "one of the most sinister on record."

A detailed plot to assassinate a German diplomat to create an "incident" calculated to result in invasion of Czechoslovakia was made by Hitler and Field Marshal Keitel, chief of the German high command, Alderman charged.

The plot was just one step in Hitler's lawless plans to subjugate Germany's neighbors that were outlined in detail before the international military court.

(International News Service Correspondent Pierre Huss reported the Russian prosecutors were in possession of war guilt confessions signed by Grand Adm. Erich Raeder, former chief of the German navy, and Radio Propaganda Leader Hans Fritzche.)

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 26 (AP)—More than 100,000 bags of home-bound GI Christmas mail and parcels are piled ceiling high in Union Station here, filled with the purchases of soldier and sailor shoppers in Japan.

Japs Hell-Bent for War In '41, Hull Testifies

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (AP)—Cordell Hull declared today the Japanese were "hell-bent" for war in November, 1941, and rejected a 10-point American note he said any peace-seeking nation would have been "delighted to accept."

JEWISH GROUP ACCUSES BRITISH—Charges that Great Britain "incited the Arabs into anti-Zionist and anti-Jewish channels" were made to members of the New England and Greater Boston Jewish National Fund Conference at the Copley Plaza by speakers including (l. to r): Re-elected N. E. President Dr. Arthur I. Shain; National President Judge Morris Rothenberg, N. Y. C., and Mrs. Abraham Granovsky, wife of the world president of the organization.

The 74-year-old former Secretary of State, testifying before a Senate-House committee investigating the Pearl Harbor disaster, said the Nov. 26 note he handed the Japanese had been "ignorantly misrepresented."

Jap propagandists later called it an American "ultimatum." The Army Pearl Harbor board said in its report Hull's delivery of the note may have started the war.

Hull said the 10-point note merely brought together the general principles on which the United States had been insisting since diplomatic talks began with the Japanese six months earlier. He added that five of the 10 points offered direct benefits to Japan.

"Our policy was not to say 'No'—it was not to remain silent," he said. "It was to grab at every straw to give time for preparation to our Army and Navy and to our prospective Allies."

He said the form of a proposed temporary agreement was given consideration under which the American plan of peaceful cooperation would be discussed further.

The proposal was not offered, he said, largely because of Chinese and British opposition.

He said the Jap war lords had whipped their people to a war fever while this country "unfortunately was divided" in its views.

Chairman Barkley (D.) of Kentucky asked if Hull had talked with President Roosevelt about keeping the fleet in Pearl Harbor late in 1941.

Hull replied that Mr. Roosevelt had asked him about the psychological effects and he, Hull, had urged that the fleet remain in Hawaiian waters.

He pictured the Jap warlords as savages allied with a German savage—Hitler—and sail that, had their Nov. 20 proposals been accepted, both Japan and Germany would have shared the spoils.

Joseph C. Grew, former undersecretary of state and for 10 years ambassador to Japan, was called to the stand as Hull was excused.

Asked if he had had any information that the Japs were planning an aggressive move against the United States, or that they might attack Pearl Harbor, Grew said "it was all guesswork." He added he had given several broad warnings to Washington.

Asked when it was he concluded war was inevitable, Grew said he could not set the exact date.

4 Jews Killed, 50 Hurt in New Palestine Battle

JERUSALEM, Nov. 26 (AP)—British troops armed with tanks, mortars and machineguns penetrated six Jewish villages today in search for persons responsible for attacks on coast guard stations and unofficial reports said four Jews were killed and 50 wounded.

Hand to hand fighting erupted frequently. Considerable property damage was reported and 250 persons were detained for questioning.

Troops of the famous Sixth Airborne Division and settlers fought for two hours at Shefayim near Tel Aviv and dispatches said "thousands" of Jews, shouting "all Jews to the rescue!" streamed toward Shefayim.

Additional British troops including the Third paratroop brigade of the Sixth Airborne poured into the area.

Villages entered by police and troops included Rishbon, Enhahoresh, Kfar Koglah, Ffar Haroeth, Givath Haim and Shefayim, all north of Tel Aviv near the coast. Authorities sought arms and ammunition.

Indonesians In Retreat

BATAVIA, Java, Nov. 26 (AP)—Long lines of Indonesians were observed retreating southward out of battered Soerabaja today, the British said, as fighting flared anew in Batavia.

A British press release stated the movement of the Indonesians toward Malang, 55 miles away, indicated the native Nationalists were abandoning their last stronghold in the southern section of Soerabaja.

Inside the city, however, an Indonesian force was dispersed yesterday after it attacked a British Indian unit.

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 26 (AP)—The aircraft carrier Lake Champlain arrived today, establishing a world's record of 32.048 knots for crossing the Atlantic.

Bringing home 5052 American troops the Lake Champlain crossed from Gibraltar to Norfolk—3360 miles—in four days, eight hours, 51 minutes.

Previous record for a westward crossing, held by the British liner Queen Mary, was an average of 30.99 knots from Bishop Rock, Southampton, to Ambrose Light, New York, in August, 1938.

Charges Navy Runs House of Ill Fame

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (AP)—Rep. Cole (R.) of New York, today asked the House naval committee to investigate a chaplain's report that the Navy opened a "house of prostitution" in Japan.

Cole, ranking minority member of the committee, quoted a Navy chaplain, Lawrence I. Lacour, as saying he had "personal knowledge" of such an establishment.

The chaplain's disclosures, Cole said in a letter to Chairman Vinson (D.) of Georgia, were contained in an article published in the Des Moines Register-Tribune.

"In the article," Cole said "Chaplain Lacour recites that a house of prostitution was opened under Navy auspices with the impression created that it was safe for naval personnel, who might be so inclined, to take advantage of its services.

"While the regulation of sexual problems is inevitably difficult," Cole continued, "it is my view that the policy of the Navy Department to sponsor officially a house of assignation is neither in keeping with the traditional practices nor with American sense of moral standards and conduct."

He asked for an investigation to determine under what "justification" the Navy "predicated this unprecedented policy" and make recommendations for "such changes as evidence might indicate."

Wife and Son Stowaways Freed to Vet

Immigration authorities today paroled Mrs. Winifred Donnelly Maresco, 25, who came to the United States with her 8-months-old son as stowaways aboard a troopship, for 30 days in the custody of her husband, Ralph J. Maresco, discharged air force veteran.

She was allowed to leave with him as soon as he returned from a shopping trip to buy necessities for the baby and will remain with him during the 30 days in which immigration authorities will decide whether she will be allowed to stay in the country.

The decision was announced after a day in which the veteran stole a brief reunion with his plucky wife at the Chardon st. home before he was allowed an official visit with her at immigration headquarters. Their unofficial reunion came as she was being led from the side door of the Home to a parked car.

Unable to restrain himself at the sight of his wife, the former Winifred Mary Donnelly, 25, Maresco leaped from another parked car and clasped her in a bear hug.

The couple didn't speak, but their embrace spoke volumes. Then she was whisked away and Maresco followed to immigration headquarters. After the couple answered questions of officials, the veteran was allowed a happy visit with his wife and child.

Earlier he had conferred with immigration authorities and pleaded with them to hasten the cutting of red tape which would permit his wife and baby to be reunited with him. Talking later with newspapermen, he chuckled with admiration at her feat.

It's the Irish in her!" he exclaimed. "She has more nerve than most men. It sure takes a wife to get your name in the papers."

Maresco disclosed that before sailing for home he had papers made out for his wife and child to come to the United States but that the long list of applications would have delayed her departure to next March or April.

"Now she's here, so she might as well be allowed to stay, the way I see it," he said, "My mother and father both were tickled pink at the news and they're ready to give her a royal welcome."

He last heard from his wife two weeks ago, when she told him not to be surprised if 'an inspector knocks at the door and tells you your wife and baby are here."

"I never dreamed she was planning to stow away,' he said. "I thought she was just trying to cheer me up."

The youthful veteran, discharged since Nov. 8, is taking life easy but plans to take police training and then seek a post on the New York force. He lives with his parents in Corona, L. I.

"I was desperate," she told reporters. "I had tried everything I could think of to get ever here to rejoin my husband and have Joseph brought up as an American citizen. I was one of 50,000 English girls who married American soldiers and who want to join their husbands here. I hope they will permit us to stay."

Mrs. Maresco denied any knowledge of a smuggling ring which reports from London said was helping GI wives to stow away at $1000 a head.

She disclosed that from midnight of a Thursday when she slipped aboard the New Zealand Victory at Liverpool with her baby, until the following Saturday when discovered, she had nothing to eat.

The baby, however, was fed with canned milk which the mother had brought aboard ship in a bag, she said.

Bus in Lake, 15 Pupils Drown

WENATCHEE, Wash., Nov. 26 (AP)—Sheriff Bruce Parkinson said today 15 or 16 pupils were drowned when a school bus left the Chelan highway and plunged over a 50-foot embankment into 50 feet of water in Lake Chelan.

First reports said 40 students were thought trapped in the bus. Later information from the scene, 10 miles from the town of Chelan, indicated most of the children escaped.

Sheriff Parkinson said "five or six" swam ashore and were rushed to hospitals.

Officers were still attempting to piece together the fragmentary reports of the tragedy while divers were rushed from Coulee City and Seattle.

State Patrol Sgt. Joseph McCauley, telephoning from the scene, reported the bus struck a rock in the road, throwing it into the lake.

Mrs. Ted Brown, a passenger, shoved several children from windows, then saved herself. At least seven children escaped.

Some families, McCauley said, lost three children.

Blind Vet Wins Court Mercy for Erring Brother

FALL RIVER, Nov. 26 – While spectators wept openly, Cpl. Joseph St. Lawrence of Johnston, R. I., blinded and crippled in World War II, today pleaded desperately in district court for probation for his erring brother—and won the heart of Judge Walter L. Collins.

"I just want one more chance for my brother," the blind veteran declared as he was led to the side of the defendant, Peter St. Lawrence, charged with robberies here and in Attleboro.

"I know I can make a man out of him. I have learned cabinet-making in a government school for the blind. If you will give us both a chance, I will make cabinets and my brother will deliver them."

Judge Collins, who spoke a bit huskily himself, ordered the defendant to come forward, saying, "This is one of the most unusual and pathetic appeals I ever have heard."

With this Peter burst into tears and vowed he wanted to make good for his brother, who lost part of one hand, the sight of both eyes and also was wounded in the leg during European fighting.

"I promise to make good this time," he sobbed. "I'll take care of this wonderful brother of mine all his life. I won't fail him again."

Judge Collins meted a suspended sentence of five to seven years.

Boy, 15, Tells How He Drank, Killed Girl, 16

MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 26 (AP)—Nicholas Fomkin, 15, told police today the fatal shooting of Susan Scanga, 16, of Brooklyn was "all an accident."

"I didn't have no reason in the world to want to shoot her—she cared for me a lot," the big blond youngster said.

Fomkin and Leonard Runkowski, 16, were arrested in a hotel lobby last night after Mobile police had been notified by New York authorities of their presence.

Fomkin tlod this story:

"I had been drinking that day. Three of us boys—at first there was three and then four—had been drinking beer up at my house. Then we decided we should go down and shoot some pool.

"We were walking down the street——it was about dark—my girl (Susan) walked up with another fellow—one of our friends, and called me aside. Then I told the fellows I was gonna take a walk with her, as usual when she got off work.

"I had been going with her about seven months.

"We were down in the vacant lots, near Newtown Creek, just standing up talking. Then, playfully, I put the gun up to her head and said, 'If you ever went out with any other guy' . . . And, my God, the gun went off!

"She fell to the ground, and I was scared to death. I didn't know what to do. So I took the pistol and broke it into pieces, taking the barrel, and threw the pieces into the creek. I threw them pretty hard and in different directions. Then I went back to the pool room, where the other three fellows were playing pool and I was going to join them. I called them out and told them I'd had an accident."

Fomkin sai dthe .22 pistol with which he shot the girl was given to him by Runkowski three or four weeks previously after the trigger broke off. He said there was only one cartridge in the weapon the night of the shooting.

Youth, 2 Girls, $19,112 Found

COLUMBUS, Ga., Nov. 26 (AP)—Police Chief J. G. Newberry said today $19,112 was found on Malcolm McLeod, 18, son of former Cong. Clarence J. McLeod of Detroit, when he was arrested here yesterday.

The officer said the youth "kind of refused to talk" to police, although "I think he talked with his daddy by telephone."

McLeod was taken off a train with two young women. He had been missing since Thanksgiving. The father had expressed fear Malcolm might have been the victime of "force" or of a "threat." The parent learned yesterday the boy was en route to Florida and asked police to watch.

Newberry said the girls "haven't done any talking, either." He said one had $124.25 and the other "didn't seem to have any money."

Police who talked with McLeod and the girls said McLeod admitted he took between $20,000 and $21,000 from a box in his father's room, most of it in $50 bills.

Exclusive Airport Bus Line Bitterly Opposed

Indignant opposition to the Suttcliffe Storage & Warehouse Co.'s petition for the exclusive right to operate buses in and out of Logan International airport, east Boston, highlighted a hearing conducted today by the State Public Works Commission.

Airline companies, industrial groups, a legislative subcommittee, the EI trustees, Chamber of Commerce, taxicab companies and many others declared the granting of such a petition would be unconstitutional, monopolistic and un-American.

Austin M. Pinkham, representing the Railway Express, held it would be in violation of interstate commerce laws. After he had denounced it as unconstitutional he agreed to write a brief for Herman A. MacDonald, chairman of the commission.

An exclusive franchise would "put a stranglehold around the throat of the great air terminal and would be an unwarranted and highly serious interference with the public's interest," Lt. Gov. Bradford told the hearing.

After the session, Chairman MacDonald indicated his stand by saying:

"Lest there be some misunderstanding or misconception of the general attitude of the department of public works with reference to transportation to and from the airport at East Boston, may I state the department is wholeheartedly in favor of the most efficient and most economical service? It would appear that this service cannot be rendered by one operator alone."

Eddie Rickenbacker, head of Eastern Airlines, sent word he opposed the petition because it would retard airport development.

Reps. Roy Smith of Holbrook, Patrick G. Sullivan of Boston and John E. Powers of South Boston fought the petition as a sub-committee from the joint legislative committee on ways and means. They told MacDonald the parent committee unanimously opposed the Sutcliffe request.

Jarvis Hunt, former Senate president, appearing for the Associated Industries of Massachusetts, recorded that organization's opposition and recommended no one company should be granted a monopoly on airport bus service.

The same sentiment was voiced for the EI trustees by William B. Downey. It was pointed out the EI has pending before the commission a petition to operate buses between the airport and Copley sq. for a 25-cent fare, whereas the Sutcliffe Co. proposes to charge 75 cents.

One airline executive objecting was Edmund Burke of TWA, who pointed out a monopoly of airport transportation might run into trouble with federal authorities.

"I doubt if any one company would be permitted to interfere with mails or railway express," he said.

The petition was also opposed by American Airlines, Pan-American Airlines, the Transcontinental & Western, the state planning board, Retail Trade Board and Aeronautical Ass'n of Boston.

Meanwhile Mayor Kerrigan today signed a permit for the Airways Transportation Co. to operate a bus line from Kenmore sq. to the airport, with hotel stops, for a 50-cent fare. The petition now will go to the state public works commission.

Aim Not So Good at 108, She Fails to Shoot Her Man

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 26 (AP)—A sharp-eyed little woman, who said she was 108 years old, laid a pistol down on the desk of Police Sgt. Raymond Gorman here today and told the officer, "I just shot a man."

Gorman said the centenarian told him she did not know whether the one bullet fired hit the man or not, but that "he tried to run me down with his motorcycle."

Then in walked William M. Todd, 32, who told the officer the woman fired a shot at him while he was trying to get his motorcycle started.

Todd said the woman pulled a pistol out of her pocket and walked up to him saying, "You've been trying to hoodoo me, and I'm going to kill you."

"Then she fired," Todd said. "The shot missed me, but she still had the gun and I got away from there as fast as my motorcycle would take me."

The woman told Gorman she was born in Boston, was brought to New Orleans as an infant, and would be 109 years old next June 4.

Todd said he did not wish to file a charge against the woman but urged the officer: "Please don't give that gun back to her."

"I won't," replied Gorman, and no charge was filed.

Harbor Chase Trapping 2 Described by Cop at Trial

Lt. John L. Willard of the Boston police today continued his testimony at the Suffolk Superior Court trial of six men charged with weapon carrying and robbery, and told of the spectacular boat chase in which two were captured.

Willard testified he and Mrs. Virginia O'Connor, accompanied by two other officers, raced from Dorchester to Squantum as other officers also gave chase in the police boat McShane.

Edward Rasmussen of Adams st., Dorchester, and Frank Fenney of Parker st., Jamaica Plain, were arrested when they leaped from the boat at Squaw's Point, Squantum, Willard testified.

He identified two boxes and a suitcase allegedly dropped by the men. A sawed-off shotgun, a machine gun, a revolver and ammunition were found in the boxes, and a set of drills, a long pinch bar and a jar of coins hidden in the boat, he said.

Also found on board the cruiser were six poultry journals addressed to Joseph Keyes, of Topliffe st., Dorchester, another of the defendants, testimony disclosed.

Williard showed the court papers of ownership of the Harpoon II in Rassmussen's name. The defendant told police he paid $2100 for the 65-foot cruiser.

Others on trial with Keyes, Rassmussen and Feeney are William Gallagher, 27, of Philadelphia, John Eppich, 32, of Norwood and Edward McAleney, 32, of Dorchester.

2 Millionth GI Finds Hub Fete Old Stuff

Army embarkation officers in Marseilles jumped the gun on the Transportation Corps in Boston and feted Cpl. Charles W. Hudgins of Norfolk, Va., as the 2,000,000th man to leave the European theater of operations before he boarded the Army transport Gen. Breckenridge at the port of London.

Hudgins explained that in checking the men aboard the ship in Marseilles it was found he would be 2,000,000th off when the vessel arrived in Boston. A celebration followed and during the trip he was allowed the run of the ship and invited to the bridge.

The corporal served with the 45th Infantry and was wounded at Anzio, Italy. He holds the Purple Heart, Combat Infantryman's Badge and three Battle Stars.

The Breckenridge carried 5188 troops, including the 478th Engineers Maintenance Group and the 26th Field Hospital.

Among New Englanders arriving on the Breckenridge was Sgt. John Garbutt of Worcester, who was decorated for his action during a 24-hour patrol across the Rhine in which he gathered information on troop concentration behind the enemy lines.

Sgt. Albert W. Procopi, 21, of Waite st., Revere, who served with the 90th Division and was wounded at St. Lo and later at Metz was also aboard the Breckenridge.

Two other ships arrived today, the Laconia Victory with 1955 troops from Le Harve and the Benjamin Huntington with 551 troops, including 72 New Englanders.

The Huntington made port after a 16-day voyage from London, which passengers described as so rough that more than half of them were seasick.

Among them were four New Englanders attached to the 29th Technical Air Command to which the Belgian government awarded the Belgian Croix de Guerre. These are S-Sgt. Everett Perkins of Lowell; S-Sgt. William F. Gardella of Arlington; Sgt. Frank H. Lavin of Shelton, Ct., and S-Sgt. Joseph Busby of Everett.

With Sgt. Gardella was "PFC Peabody," a 20-months-old collie, with him through the invasion of Normandy, the Battle of the Bulge and the final drive through Holland and Germany.

Union Picketing Livens as GM Weighs Offer

DETROIT, Nov. 26 (AP)—General Motors officials studied a new union proposal for negotiations in their wage dispute today as increased picketing activity enforced idleness in GM's extensive automobile operations.

Spokesmen for General Motors and for the CIO United Automobile Workers said they had not yet received formal word from Labor Secretary Schwellenbach who had announced plans to call officials of both sides to Washington for a conference.

The union's new proposal, urging public negotiations before federal concilators, was made by telegraph last night.

While awaiting the corporation's reply, the union's international executive board opened a two-day meeting here.

Malden Boys, 4, Run Cops Ragged

Two 4-year-old Malden boys led police a merry chase today with a fictitious report a girl playmate had fallen into the Malden river.

Unable to find any trace of a body, the police visited the girl's house and found her taking her daily nap.

One of the boys then declared it was another girl and, visiting her home, police learned she was missing. After a search of an hour she was found and police decided they had been "had."

But their search accomplished some good. They discovered a bad leak in a main of the Metropolitan water supply system under the Medford st. bridge while searching the river for a body.

Kind Bandit Saves Man's Job

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 26 (AP)—Police have a new version of the kind-hearted robber. George Budelis, gas station attendant, reported an armed man demanded all the money in his till. Budelis protested:

"I'll lose my job. The boss will never believe I was robbed."

"Then I'll write him a note," said the bandit.

"But he wouldn't believe a note, either," replied Budelis.

"Okay—get him on the phone," Budelis complied.

"Look, pal," the robber said pleasantly over the phone, "George is losing $80 through circumstances over which he has no control. I'm taking it at gunpoint, so don't fire George."

Hanging up, he disappeared with the $80.

European UNO Site Now Likely, British Say

LONDON, Nov. 26 (AP)—A British spokesman said today that the United Nations preparatory commission might reconsider a recommendation by its executive committee to locate the permanent seat of United Nations Organization in North America.

The representative of the British delegation, said at a foreign office news conference that there appeared to be "quite a widespread" movement to reopen the question of the site of the headquarters.

Delegates from middle eastern and some Latin-American countries—especially Brazil and Uruguay—have expressed the opinion that the headquarters should be nearer to Europe, he said, and Brussels, Luxembourg, Copenhagen and Nice have been mentioned as possible sites.

The executive committee had voted 9 to 3 for the headquarters to be in North America.

The commission today unanimously elected Dr. Eduardo Zuleta, Colombian ambassador to Peru, as its chairman, and Dr. D. F. Manituksi, Ukrainian delegate, and Paul Henri Spaak, Belgian foreign minister, as vice chairmen.

Tobin's Big Argument Held in Reserve

LONDON, Nov. 26—The battle among 20 U. S. cities to win selection as seat of the United Nations Organization—assuming the choice is to be an American city—got under way today, with the Boston delegation claiming to hold a "secret weapon."

Gov. Maurice J. Tobin announced the Massachusetts committee had many arguments for choice of Boston to house the new international organization, but that he would not now disclose his strongest selling point. That will be reserved for UNO's "Committee No. 8."

Sparks began to fly shortly after Gov. Tobin arrived and was asked if Boston would repeal its blue laws in the event UNO settled there. "What blue laws? That's a myth—you must be thinking of Philadelphia.," he replied.

16,000 Army, Navy Babies Born in State

Massachusetts, with federal aid, has "ushered 16,000 servicemen's babies into the world since the war began," Dr. Vlado A. Getting, state commissioner of public health, said today in an address before the 41st annual meeting of the Massachusetts Conference of Social Workers.

Getting told 1500 social workers at the Statler that the State has "on order" 12,000 more babies who will be delivered under federal and State aid.

Dr. Earl M. Chapman criticized what he termed "commercial exploitation" of vitamins and exaggerated claims for such products.

"The science of nutrition will suffer unless firms advertising directly to the public restrict themselves to the truth," he said. "Their hoax on the American public is being exposed and the admitted decline of vitamin sales is an index of our intelligence, not a token of our physical decline."

Lowell Gas Blast Breaks Windows

LOWELL Nov. 26 (AP)—An explosion at noon damaged the Lowell Gas Co. plant and shattered windows in a half-mile radius, but employes escaped injury.

The blast occurred in the gas producing building when all except 5 workers had gone to lunch.

Major Doesn't Press Case Against Driver

Maj. Frank Conway of Bedford Airport, who complained to police yesterday his automobile was delayed in West st. by an abusive and threatening taxi driver, failed to appear at police headquarters today to confirm his alleged threatener, Emo Scholze of Columbus ave., South End.

Deputy Supt. James Hinchey, who was to hear both parties, said he had been unable to contact the major at Bedford Airport. Scholze denied the charges.

2 of Maine's 9 Cotton Mills Reopen

LEWISTON, Me., Nov. 26 (AP)—Strikers returned today to two of nine Maine cotton mills under strike since Nov. 2 and management representatives of the other plants scheduled a Boston conference with union negotiators and a federal conciliator.

Biddeford Pepperell plant workers and Lewiston Bleachery employes totaling 2800 were back to work, but 7200 were still idle at Lewiston, Saco and Augusta.

So. End Girl Turns Sleuth, Gets Back Stolen Fur Coat

A South End waitress was so successful as a detective that in municipal court today she regained the "original Gold Coast monkey fur" coat which she lost a month ago in a Washington st. restaurant.

The waitress, Mrs. Julia Hennessey of Washington st. charged that Mrs. Eileen Langan of Lowell, whom she discovered wearing the coat early yesterday in another South End restaurant, had stolen the garment, and Judge Joseph E. Donovan finally agreed with her after listening to Julia.

"There are certain intricacies about a coat," she told the judge. "I knew this was mine because the shoulder pads had slipped into the sleeves and I could tell my own sewing. Also, there was a missing fastening and a place where I caught it on a hook."

She said she confronted Mrs. Langan and that the woman and her husband fled but she trailed them through an alley to Shawmut ave., where she had them arrested.

After finding Mrs. Langan guilty, Judge Donovan ordered her turned over to Lowell police, where she is under suspended sentence for neglect of two small children.

Mrs. Hennessey walked proudly from the courtroom with her jacket while the coatless Mrs. Langan accompanied officers to an auto to be returned to Lowell.

Two Wives See Bigamist Jailed

With a hopeful wave to his bride of a year and only stony stares for his other mate, Gerald Richards, 29, one-time RCAF pilot, today went off to serve a year in jail after the two women—both mothers—told their stories in Chelsea district court.

Richards, a bakery worker, admitted a finding of guilt to a charge of polygamy when Mrs. Edna Silverberg Richards, 25, of St. John, N. B., a tall and beautiful red-head, pointed him out as the husband she wed in Canada in February, 1942. She said she received allotment checks for herself and son, 3, while he was in service, but that they were halted a little over a year ago.

Then, Mrs. Josephine Torre Richards of Orange st, Chelsea, 23, tiny but an equally beautiful brunette, identified Richards as the one she wed in October, 1944, and the man who is the father of her daughter 5 weeks old. She said he never told her he was married, and had been a good husband.

Richards first appealed the one-year sentence by Judge John W. McLeod. During a lobby conference, Defense Atty. Sebansian Tangusso asked that he be given probation, a chance to straighten out the tangle, at least to provide for his two children.

But wife No. 1 said she thought he should be punished. Richards then withdrew his appeal and left to serve his sentence.

Girl Stowaway On Europa in N. Y.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26 (AP)—A 20-year-old British girl, who said she was engaged to "an army man" and wanted to come to the United States to marry him, stowed away on the former German liner Europa on its trip from Southhampton as a transport, the Third Naval District revealed today.

The Navy identified the girl as Miss Kathleen Moody of Bristol, England. It said she climbed a hawser to the stern of the ship as it was getting ready to sail and was only discovered 150 miles at sea.

Chelsea Fights New Oil Farm

Chelsea residents today renewed their 20-year battle to keep more oil farms out of the city after the filing of a petition for storage of 82,500,000 gallons of petroleum products off Eastern ave., in an area known as "The Sands."

The petition was filed with the board of aldermen by the Terminal Realty Co. A hearing is scheduled for Dec. 3.

Last efforts to store oil at that site was six years ago.

Chase Driver Gets Court Sanity Test

James Fox, 27, of Topliff st., Dorchester, pleaded not guilty to a charge of negligent driving in Quincy District Court today after a chase through Quincy, Dorchester and South Boston, during which police fired eight shots.

Judge Kenneth Nash set Dec. 5 for further hearing and, after conference with the defendant's relatives, ordered Fox committed for observation.

Now You Can Wire The Boys in Japan

YOKOHAMA, Nov. 26 (AP)—American forces in Japan now can send and receive messages from home by wire.

Lt. Col. J. E. Newton, U. S. Eighth Army postal officer, told the troops messages from home should carry name, rank, serial number, unit or organization and APO number to facilitate delivery. Any three of several hundred fixed texts can be wired to the United States for 60 cents.

Hub Tryst Pair Held in $2000 By Maine Court

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 26—Wealthy 60-year-old Ray Southgate, Boston financier, and Miss Althea B. Smith, 32, office secretary in the Boston Stock Exchange, were held in $1000 each for court today on morals charges.

Ray Southgate

Arraigned in the chambers of Judge Edmund P. Mahoney, the couple waived examination, pleaded not guilty and provided bail.

Bail for the distinguished looking, well dressed governor of the Boston Stock Exchange was furnished by William F. Moulton of Portland, while that for the attractive Miss Smith was put up by Dorothy O'Brien of Avalon rd., Malden, Mass.

Atty. C. Arthur Paul of Portland represented the couple, who were arrested around midnight Saturday at a cottage at nearby Sebago lake.

Mrs. Caroline Southgate, 58-year-old wife of the broker, was present at the courthouse, accompanied by a private detective and Deputy Sheriff George Bryant, who entered the cottage Saturday night to make the arrest.

Southgate is a prominent figure in Boston's financial circles and maintains brokerage offices in State st. He and Mrs. Southgate live in High st. in the exclusive section of West Medford. They have no children.

Miss Smith lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph F. Smith, in Warwick rd., Watertown.

Befriended Youth Held for Break

A 16-year-old Cambridge youth was ordered held in $500 today for the juvenile session of Newton district court Friday on charges of breaking and entering the home of a boy who befriended him and stealing clothing and jewelry valued at more than $2000.

—LUSH SATIN WEDDING GOWNS

Really breath-takingly regal with their yards and yards of fabric — majestic trains, multitudinous buttons and fairy-like Princess style—regal enough for a queen as it were—AND HOW DID THEY SELL OFF THE BARGAIN RACKS for a MERE $2.99 you question? They all had slightly "dirty faces", slightly soiled from too long display in the maker's showrooms—too much handling in the specialty shops from which we purchased them. We had about thirty in all—all different styles, any one of which would cleanse beautifully and definitely take the financial strain out of marching to the tune of Mendelssohn if one were altar-bound. Some of them may have been used on wedding belles, the very new wing sleeves testified to the fact of their "high fashion", specifically we haven't yet heard—however, two of them we knew of came from a famous specialty shop originally priced $25 and $26.75 were to be turned into glamorous house coats. Another was to be used as an evening gown—still others for slips, underwear and nightgowns, maybe for a trousseau. The luxurious satin alone must have cost more than $2.99 per yard, all of them had six or eight yards or more with trains and one with 35 buttons (we counted them), all covered, individually probably cost alone nearly as much as the gown —wouldn't you say? Bargains that sound too good to be true—bargains priced so low sometimes they dare you to buy—bargains so fantastic, sometimes folks barter with each other for the privilege of obtaining them, bargains about 71,000 square feet jampacked with money-saving wearable bargains—all you need is a sharp eye and as in the case of these wedding gowns the foresight to envision the transformation of these yards and yards of luxurious lush satin after they had their "faces lifted". Better look carefully next time you see a soiled dress, blouse or shirt—that's one of the reasons thousands of our bargains sell underpriced — remember under that soil may lurk hidden dollars as in the case of the thirty soiled wedding gowns at $2.99.

Chiang Outlines China New Deal

CHUNGKING, Nov. 26 (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek proposed a new deal for China today, created a supreme economic council to tackle it and promised to "spare no effort to bring internal order and security."

While his trops drove more than 100 miles into Manchuria—about half way to the great city of Mukden, where Chinese Communists were reported massing— he asserted that his government was "acting to correct" those disturbances.

Chiang said farmers would be among the first beneficiaries of a "new deal" program that would improve their livelihood, but did not go into detail. He also proposed a program to improve transportation; to help China's industry; to expand foreign trade, and improve health.

Moscow Drive to Win U. S. Told in Communist Chart

By DAVID SENTNER
Boston American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26—A hitherto secret master chart of the Communist global revolutionary movement today hung in offices of the House committee on un-American activities.

Detailing links between Communist front groups in every form of American life and Moscow, the chart was compiled by government investigative agencies collaborating with police of major cities.

Topping the spider-net of the international subversive organization is large circle labeling Stalin and the Third International in Moscow as controlling Communist parties in 57 countries. It is inscribed as the "general staff" of the world revolutionary movement.

"The purpose of this chart," it is noted, "is to illustrate the modus operandi of the Communist party as documented during the last five years.

"Some organizations listed are dormant due to war conditions but are easily revived and activated when conditions warrant.

"The Communist party holds blue prints to fit any and all conditions and are ever ready to alter programs at a moment's notice."

The statement of V. I. Lenin, father of the Red revolution in the USSR, on Communist front organizations, is revealed as follows:

"The task of the Communist Party is to utilize every manifestation of discontent and to collect and utilize every grain of even rudimentary protest and then turn them into bitter hatred against the governments of all capitalistic countries."

Overtime Taboo In Lynn GE Vote

Workers at the West Lynn and River Works plants of the General Electric Co. today agreed not to work overtime pending the strike vote to be taken tomorrow and Wednesday in support of demands for a $2 a day wage increase in G. E. plants. The agreement followed a union mass meeting of 5000 workers that overflowed Odd Fellows Hall, Lynn.

The union accepted a recommendation of officials of Local 201, United Radio and Electrical Workers' Union, CIO, that a strike vote be taken in support of demands of GE workers throughout the country.

4928 on Strike In 20 State Plants

Twenty Massachusetts plants now are strike-bound, with 4928 employes off the job, and approximately 38,000 more workers of 16 additional Bay State companies have taken strike votes to enforce demands, it was disclosed today.

Gen. Charles H. Cole, chairman of the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration, said attempts have been made to settle labor troubles at all but four of the plants where strikes now are in progress, and that further arbitration meetings are scheduled this week.

In the 16 plants where strike votes have been taken, negotiations are underway between management and labor, but there is no assurance settlements can be made, Cole said.

Cole listed the following companies—together with the number of employes off the job—as the Massachusetts strike total:

Baldwin Duckworth Co., Springfield 250; Quincy Patriot Ledger, Quincy, 87; Manning, Maxwell & Moore, Boston, 450; Twin Tonneries Peabody 200; Package Machinery Co., Springfield, 275; Sinclair Co., Springfield 18; Millbury Woolen Co. 25; Cheney Bigelow Wire Works, Springfield 21; Springfield Bronze Co. 140; Sprague Co., South Adams 1800; McQuesten Lumber Co., East Boston, number not known; Foster Machine Co., Springfield, 384; Smith & Wesson, Springfield, 500; WSRN Station, Salem, 12; New England Greyhound, Boston, 17; Underwood Machinery Co., Dorchester, 25; Klotzen Leather Co., Boston, 6; Lowell Painters Co., Lowell, 47; B. B. Rodger Co., Cambridge, 150, and the American Hyde & Leather Co., Lowell, 358.

Plants where strike votes have been taken, and the number affected if a walkout comes, are:

General Electric, Lynn, 20,000; Singer Machine Works, Westfield, 70; Westinghouse Electric Co., Haverhill, 1000; Revere Copper & Bronze Co., New Bedford, 1000; Greenfield Tap & Die Co. and the Threadrite Tap & Die Co., both Greenfield, total of 12000; H. I. Handy Co., Springfield, 400, and these others where the number of employes has not been recorded at the State House: New Bedford Gas Co., E. D. Jones Co., Pittsfield, Raytheon Co., Waltham, Morse Twist Drill Co., New Bedford, Guest Pattern Works, Springfield, Shurak Furniture Co., Boston; Hodgman Rubber Co., Framingham, American Box Co., Springfield, General Crib & Cradle Co., Gardner.

Infantry Band To Spur Loan

An Infantry Concert group of 17 Army musicians will open a three-week Victory Loan drive throughout the state with concerts in Brookline tonight, Belmont tomorrow night and Arlington Wednesday.

The campaign to meet the state's quota warmed up today. One of the first major divisions to go over the top in the drive was the Securities Dealers' Division of the War Finance Committee, which produced $32,818,371 in Victory Bond sales. Its quota was $30,000,000.

Sales of E bonds in Massachusetts through Nov. 24 amounted to $22,700,000, or 34.9 per cent of the quota of $65,000,000. Total sales to individuals reached $100,300,000, or 77.2 per cent of the state's quota of $130,000,000.

In Greater Boston, E bond sales up to the close of business on Saturday amounted to $13,512,000, or 34.4 per cent of the Metropolitan District quota.

U. S. Urges Red, British Troops Quit Iran Jan. 1

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (AP)—The United States has proposed to the British and Russian governments that the armed forces of all three nations be entirely withdrawn from Iran by Jan. 1.

The proposal was contained in a note which U. S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman delivered to the Russian government in Moscow Saturday. The State Department made it public today.

At the same time this government made plain that, regardless of British and Russian response to the proposal, all American forces would be evacuated from Iran by Jan. 1.

Little Iran, it was disclosed earlier, has sent Russia two more notes, protesting Soviet activities in a disturbance in the northern part of the country.

The two additional Iranian notes to Russia complained: Russian troops had not evacuated Teheran as pledged and that Red army officers and men, wearing civilian clothes, carried out "certain activities" in the capital.

Allied diplomats here are taking an increasingly serious view of the Russian-Iran situation.

Walsh, Bridges Favor Memorial

Latest to endorse the plan for erecting a memorial in Washington to Americans who gave their lives in World War II are Sens. David I. Walsh of Massachusetts and H. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire.

The proposed memorial would be similar to that erected to the Unknown Soldier in the First World War and would commemorate Americans who died in both the European and Pacific areas. It was suggested by the Record-American, Sunday Advertiser and other Hearst papers.

"I am whole-heartedly in favor of a memorial being erected to the soldiers of World War II, as was done following World War I," said Sen. Walsh.

Sen. Bridges declared: "Your suggestion that a memorial for the unknown American dead of World War II be erected is worthy of the highest consideration.

"The Arlington shrine in memory of the unknown dead of the First World War has not only been a place to pay homage to those who made the supreme sacrifice, but has been a constant inspiration to all of our people interested in the security of America."

Russian Analyst Raps U. S. Press

LONDON, Nov. 26 (AP)—Moscow Radio's "Analyzer" attacked several American newspapers and declared ■ "certain part of the press abroad is actually engaged in fostering another world war."

The speaker took a dim view of foreigners who "are ever anxious to export their particular brand of freedom of the press to other countries" and said, "as a matter of fact, proposals have been made time and again to use the economic power of the United States for the purpose of forcing the American conception of freedom of the press on some European nations."

The Russian critic singled out for personal attention "things published by the New York Daily News; calumny—notably about the Soviet Union"; what he described as the Hearst newspapers' "fantastic inventions," and several articles in the New York Times.

Truman May Tip Press on Trips

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (AP)—President Truman's press secretary told reporters today their request for advance notice of Presidential trips would be taken "under advisement."

Charles G. Ross gave this response when informed by Joseph A. Fox, president of the White House Correspondents' Ass'n, it "does seem that when the President sets off on a trip the people should be advised."

Fox was commenting on Mr. Truman's suddenly-arranged flight to Grandview, Mo., yesterday to visit his mother, Mrs. Martha Truman, on her 93rd birthday. The President was en route back before announcement was made.

An inquiry on how much the trip cost and who paid for it brought a reply from Ross that he was checking.

"Ultimately it comes out of or could come out of the travel allowance of the President," Ross said.

100,000 GI's Wed Abroad

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (AP) —As many as 100,000 GIs may have married in foreign lands. This top estimate was disclosed today, but no officials would guess how many brides will come to this country. Thus far 22,000 have sought permission.

Starting in January, 6000 to 8000 GI brides are scheduled to enter the United States monthly.

The State Department estimates 60,000 GIs may have married English girls: 5000 to 15,000 took brides on the European continent, and 20,000 to 25,000 married Australian or New Zealand girls. A GI bride can become an American in two years.

2 Youths Deny Lynn Slugging

Two Lynn youths pleaded not guilty in Lynn district court today to charges of assault with a dangerous weapon on Frederick T. Hawes, Merchant Marine officer, slugged when he objected to slurs allegedly cast at his sister, WAC Maj. Madeline Hawes.

Richard Courtney, 17, of Chatham st., was released in $1000 bail and his co-defendant, Peter Tournas, 21, of Summer st., freed in bonds of $2500, for further hearing Friday.

Atty. Frank Cashman, counsel for Courtney, announced he was seeking a counter-complaint charging Hawes with assault. He and his client contend the officer struck the first blow, knocking out one of Courtney's teeth.

Hawes and his sister were on the way to the home of their father, Dr. Albert Hawes of Nahant st., Lynn, when the attack occurred. Hawes has been released from Lynn Hospital.

WAINWRIGHT'S 'MEMO TO HISTORY'

GEN. JONATHAN M. WAINWRIGHT has told his amazing story exclusively in the Hearst newspapers.

In part it was a personal story of an American hero and his heroic men on Bataan, Corregidor and in Japanese torture camps.

But through this story of life—and death—moved a parade of paragraphs which stand as an indictment of diplomatic derelictions and American unpreparedness.

These paragraphs, separated from the text of the General's story, constitute a "Memo to History" in which General Wainwright warns:

"That moment of surrender in Tokyo Bay was bought with the blood of more than a million Americans who died or were wounded in the struggle.

"Billions of dollars and countless hours of work by Americans at home were required to bring that little band of Japs to the Missouri's deck.

"ALL BECAUSE FOR A WHILE WE WERE CARELESS OF OUR NATION'S SAFETY.

"WE LET DOWN OUR GUARD."

THIS "Memo to History," written into General Wainwright's own story after his liberation from Japanese imprisonment BEGAN in the General's account of pre-Pearl Harbor days in the Philippines.

Recounting a conversation with General MacArthur on November 25, 1941—two weeks before Pearl Harbor—General Wainwright wrote:

"He had no official information . . . he was completely in the dark regarding the gravity of diplomatic messages then being exchanged . . ."

Seven months later, in a Japanese prison camp, General Wainwright and his fellow prisoners discussed diplomatic derelictions which had left the military in the Philippines totally uninformed.

Of this conversation General Wainwright wrote:

"It was no comfort, sitting there in our rags in Tarlac prison, to consider the state of our preparedness on the eve of a war which had been brewing in Washington diplomatic circles for a long time before the blow fell . . .

"The men at Tarlac who had been close to MacArthur during my days on Bataan told me of the Commander's great despair over our inevitable fate. He told Maj. Gen. George F. Moore:

"'Never in history has a force of this size been so left out on a limb.'"

General Wainwright added his own appraisal:

"We had indeed faced a carefully trained foe with one of the most helpless armies in the history of arms."

In other chapters General Wainwright had more to say about unpreparedness which he summed up in 24 words:

"WE WERE IN A WAR FOR WHICH WE WERE NO MORE PREPARED THAN A CHILD IS PREPARED TO FIGHT A CRUEL AND SEASONED PUGILIST."

THROUGHOUT this three years, three months and 18 days of imprisonment in Jap torture camps General Wainwright reflected on the errors which his imprisonment symbolized.

On one occasion he had the opportunity to give expression to his thoughts.

He explains the occasion:

"One day, in July, 1942, we were told (by the Japs) that each of us must write an essay, the subjects of which were assigned to us.

"I drew 'America's Prewar Policy in the Pacific.'

"I sat down and wrote at great length on what I believed, AND STILL BELIEVE, was our appalling error in not being militarily prepared for any emergency in that part of the world."

Through these paragraphs General Wainwright's text becomes a "Memo to History"—an indictment against unpreparedness and DIPLOMATIC BLUNDERING.

Love is like a dizziness
It winna let a poor body
Gang about his biziness.

THE BOYS of Co. B., 16th Infantry, U. S. Army, now stationed in Germany, write to inform me that for some time they have had three dogs as mascots which are named "Whiskey," "Schnapps" and "Cognac." Recently they acquired a fourth pup. They named him "Hangover" . . . The first Christmas card of the season sent to this department comes from U. S. Navy Man L. Bonardi, stationed at Wakayama, Japan. On the card he writes: "Thanks to your columns, which my wife has been sending me, during my 27 months in the Navy I've been able to maintain my sense of humor."

OLD FAVORITE: Have you dined recently in a restaurant that was one of your great-grandfather's favorite places? I have. Farrish's Chop House on John st. in downtown Manhattan. My grandfather was also a regular customer of this place. My father, too. It was established in 1856. The interior has not been changed in nearly 90 years. The food is superb. The service likewise. The effort to please the clientele is great. Old fashioned courtesy predominates. Incidentally, if you step to the bar for a bit of strong refreshment you will be trusted with the bottle to pour your own drink into a generously proportioned glass.

SAYS HE: "Am an admirer of your ability as a word juggler," writes a San Franciscan, "But at times question your courage. Especially where women are concerned. You approach any criticism of the female sex with an evident timidity. If the women squawk you quickly retreat. How you maintain your membership in the 'Husbands' Protective Association' is beyond me. For example, take that suggestion by a Californian named Susie who claimed women take too long to do their housework and complain too much about it. She also said the average woman was deficient in housekeeping efficiency. She was right. Her views were stimulating some women, especially my wife, to more energetic and intelligent housekeeping efforts. Then following a barrage of complaints from women, whom the truth had hurt, you smothered the whole thing. Now my wife is back to her old haphazard methods. No doubt many other husbands have the same complaint."

Q—All right, smart boy, name six stage plays with real, not ficticious, college backgrounds. A—The query is a sinecure. 1—"And for Yale." 2—"Brown of Harvard." 3—"Strongheart" (Columbia). 4—"She Didn't Say Yes" (Princeton). 5—"Charley's Aunt" (Oxford). 6—"Brother Rat" (Virginia Military Institute).

TRANSPORTATION: There is practically no pleasant public transportation in Manhattan now but the double-deck Fifth ave. buses and the express trains on the Third ave. elevated. The removal of the double-decker buses is threatened and the Third ave. El is soon to be torn down. Then all the big town transportation will be the same. That is, the patrons of the same will have about the same degree of pleasure and comfort as the eight men of the AEF who traveled with two horses in the French freight cars during World War I. New Yorkers don't seem to have any fight left in them anymore. They will stand for practically anything.

"And it was right here between Leipzig and Chemnitz on April 23, 1945, that I got the biggest stein of beer you ever saw!"

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1945, by King Features Syndicate

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—By inquiry at the office of the mayor of Providence, I have learned that the name of Mussolini st. has been changed to Russo st., in honor of Albert Russo, "the first Rhode Islander of Italian lineage to die in the present war."

Westbrook Pegler

That any street in any American city ever should have been named for the man who created Fascism out of Communism, to which he was an apostate, may remind us that some conspicuous Americans of Italian birth or descent, who now repudiate Mussolini, were glad to honor him and to receive honors from him not so long ago.

These persons are, for the most part, pushful and selfish political upstarts who presumed to speak for all Americans "of Italian lineage," and sometimes profited by their effrontery through favors from the Fascist government and trashy medals and autographed photographs of Mussolini, bestowed with the personal touch.

They tried to segregate this body of Americans from the rest of us and, to some extent, succeeded in arousing in them a feeling that any notice of the ferocious anti-American campaign in Mussolini's press, was a reflection on their race or blood and an insinuation against their American loyalty.

Shortly before Pearl Harbor, they subsided and by cock-crow on Dec. 8, 1941, they had denied him utterly.

IN PROVIDENCE some persons were especially arrogant, as the selection of the Duce's name for a city street shows. They were alert to resent criticisms of either the regime or the Duce and boldly demanded the elimination of such material from the press.

They, in turn, were overwhelmingly repudiated by the Americans for whom they took it upon themselves to speak, and now the names of Russo, Basilone and Damato outshine those of all the bumptious gentlemen of New York, Providence and Philadelphia who served the Duce here.

It is not always unwise to name public places and institutions in honor of living heroes. The Pershing squares here and there were so called in an hour of emotion, but there has been no suggestion that they be renamed in honor of later heroes.

However, in the case of LaGuardia Field the selection surely was premature. And for LaGuardia's own sentiments on that we have his own observation shortly after Corregidor, that the time was not yet to honor General MacArthur in similar fashion.

Either LaGuardia forgot that the airport had been named for him or he considered his own fame and distinction to be secure and MacArthur's immature and subject to sharp discount in the light of later developments. In either case LaGuardia seems to have been immodest.

THE ITALIANS, during their conquest of Abyssinia, impulsively expunged the old familiar name of a Roman square and, overnight, pasted up paper strips bearing the name of Marshal de Bono.

They revoked an old compliment to Woodrow Wilson in a similar mood of petulance and named one of their pretentious avenues after the Fascist martyrs who forgot to duck when Mussolini seized the government. This, too, probably has been rescinded now.

Not long afterward Marshal de Bono was recalled, arriving in Rome long after midnight when, naturally, it would be inconvenient to give him a triumphal reception.

In the end de Bono fell before a firing squad, so probably his name came down from the corners even before the Americans moved in.

It is an odd fact that, although Mussolini certainly was popular in Italy and today would be a hero of the people had he won his war, our disposition toward the Italian people is forgiving and sympathetic, whereas, in general, we have no mercy for the Germans and apply to them the principle of racial guilt.

We do this although every early observer of the rise of Hitler acknowledged that many Germans hated him and only bowed to the terror and power of the Brown Shirts. And this in spite of the fact that so many Americans have done the same in many cities, particularly in the Northwest.

WE HAVE SEEN business men, proud and ostensibly stalwart in their American convictions, co-operate with the goons, who are almost identical with Hitler's early Storm Troops.

If they resist, the terror will put them out of business by shutting off supplies at their doors, beating up their employes and their customers and boycotting firms which deal with them.

If they comply, the goons will help them and limit competition by killing off the business of their rivals or making it impossible for prospective rivals to open up.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 26—The 3-year-old mystery of "what happened to Sessue Hayakawa," the world-famous Japanese actor, still remains unsolved—but interesting news comes to light in our "Stars and Stripes," the GI newspaper.

The story is an interview with Mrs. Tsura Hayakawa, who once played in Hollywood movies herself at the old Universal lot. Right now Mrs. H. is helping the 1st Cavalry Division arrange entertainments in Japan.

Marguerite Chapman

She says, "I have been making frantic but vain efforts to get news of my husband ever since the Nazis took over France. He was making a picture in Paris at that time. After that—I heard nothing." Since the Japs were allies of the Nazis it is hardly likely they would have done away with him. But if the star of "The Cheat" is alive he must be hiding out from something or somebody—that's a cinch. Meanwhile, his wife, who has a job with Asahi Press, is well liked and popular with our officers and GI's in Japan.

★ ★ ★

WHEN I ASKED Marguerite Chapman if she was going into a mystery thriller, "The Walls Come Tumbling Down" she gave me much bigger news. The lady is going to be married in six weeks! Yes, Marguerite and Capt. Stanley Pierson will be married just as soon as she finishes the picture which is just about the time the captain gets out of the army. Their romance has been going on quietly for sometime but only their closest friends knew it was this serious. In "The Walls Come Tumbling Down" Maggie gets popular Lee Bowman to make movie love to her which isn't bad, either. Lothar Mendes will direct.

★ ★ ★

M-G-M BOSSES will tell you Tom Drake is pushing Van Johnson and Peter Lawford for popularity with the younger set. I didn't believe it until I was shown a pile of letters received for Drake—and he is getting ahead fast. Now he is to be teamed with Donna Reed in "Faithful In My Fashion," which Lionel Houser has written and Robert Slakow, just back from overseas with the Marine Photographic Combat Corp, will direct. It's Donna's first since her marriage. Remember how she kept denying she had any matrimonial plans, which irked every movie reporter in Hollywood? All any of us ever ask is the truth.

★ ★ ★

ALL THOSE rumors of whether Madeleine Carroll is coming back, or isn't, can now be settled. She is not coming back—and this is right straight from Madeleine. Preston Sturges sent her a copy of Prosper Merimee's "Columbanz." She said she loved the script but is not returning to the movies. She's busy with her Red Cross work and her husband, Stirling Hayden, is in Holland and still in service.

★ ★ ★

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Those who are closest to Olivia De Havilland are sure that she and Capt. Jack McEwen are secretly wed. Olivia doesn't deny it. She just giggles when questioned. McEwen is an attractive Irishman who was shot down over Germany and was in a German prison for a long time.

"THANKS GOD, I'll Take It from Here," the movie I'm going to emote in, quote and unquote, is now called "Without Reservations." Although an audience research institute poll was taken, it was Jack Benny who made the final choice. The two titles submitted and voted on were "Love Walked In" and "Without Reservations"—the voting came out exactly even. Mervyn Le Roy, Jesse Lasky, Claudette Colbert and Charlie Koerner were discussing the tie. Just then, Jack walked on the set and heard the discussion. "I would take 'With Reservations,'" he said, "without reservations. It has a double entendre, as Fred Allen would say—if he could only speak French," said Jack grinning.

The dress, now in the museum at Hyde Park, will be taken out of the library where it is a part of the Roosevelt collection, and sent to Col. and Mrs. James Roovelt. Jimmy, Sr., was baptized in the same dress, as were all the children of Eleanor and Franklin Roosevelt. Young Jimmy will be baptized in the Good Shepherd Catholic Church in Beverly Hills.

By Dorothy Kilgallen

By PERC WESTMORE

Pinch-hitting for Dorothy Kilgallen, Who Is on Vacation.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—Somebody offered as a bit of advice to aspiring young actresses: "Go Westmore, young lady." And another sage insisted that in Hollywood the most important Factor is Max! As for myself, I accept these compliments as a tribute to all the technicians who make performers both physically attractive and believable for film work.

Ingrid Bergman

In movieland, you reverse the old routine. You don't kiss and then make up. Rather, you make up and then kiss—for the cameras, that is.

In nearly 25 years of heading the Warner Brothers make-up department, I've seen that phase of the film business progress incredibly. Back in 1921, when my dad and I were hairdressers at First National, actors and actresses attended to their own makeup, as is done in the theater today. Stage make-up must project itself above the cruel glare of the footlights. Camera-magnified, it looks distorted.

* * *

TODAY HOLLYWOOD recognizes the crucial function of a makeup man. Every star and every bit player report to "makeup" first thing in the working day, with a staff of some 100 people attended them.

I get the script of a picture months before production and I sketch lead characters as I envision them. Then I discuss my ideas with the director, cameraman and players. On "Saratoga Trunk" our discussions with Ingrid Bergman, Flora Robson and cameraman Ernie Haller lasted days and days.

Miss Bergman uses almost no makeup at all, just lipstick, moderately, and mascara to darken her eyelashes. Her hair is naturally wavy, ash-blonde and photographs a little darker than it actually is. We all worked hard for her on the movie. There was a challenging reason for our care. We had all heard that Miss Bergman was keen to do this part, but the thought of a Swedish girl in the role of a New Orleans Frenchwoman struck her as unorthodox kind of casting. We tried to make her look the part. Whether she does or not, we leave to you.

* * *

Our toughest job in many years was our work on "Rhapsody In Blue." We had to age the principals gracefully. As a complication, Bob Alda, who played the late composer, George Gershwin, had to show signs of breaking health as the film footage went on. I tried to do that by constantly lengthening his makeup. As most of Broadway knows, Gershwin lost a good deal of his hair as the years rushed on. We created the illusion of Alda's hair thinning by just cutting and clipping.

Alexis Smith got older in that movie, too, just by straightening out the lines of her mouth, elongating her eyes, and using less wave in her hair.

HERE'S AN'OL' COOK FROM L BORRIED FROM A FRIEND!--a DA TRIGGER SPRING IS BROKE, SO YA CAN'T DO NO HARM WHILE YA ACT DA PART TUH MAKE TERRY REALLY THINK YER OL' GRAMP BEELER!

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26—Congress has yet to pass a single important piece of legislation sent to Capitol Hill by President Truman. The situation has given rise to a gag, which might be funny if it weren't so serious.

Bert Wheeler

They say Congressional leaders go down to the White House, clutching copies of Presidential bills, and give Mr. Truman the old slogan from World War I:

"They Shall Not Pass!"

* * *

THERE IS another apocryphal line being spread around town. As you have read, our government criticized the recent elections in Bulgaria on the ground they were not democratic because only one party was represented.

The story is that the Bulgarian minister called up Sec'y of State Jimmy Byrnes, who hails from South Carolina, and said:

"We had a 95 per cent turnout for our election. How did you do last time in South Carolina — and how many parties were represented?"

* * *

MR. BERT WHEELER, the eminent comedian, was reminiscing the other night. This is a chore he is exceptionally good at, having plenty of reminiscenses from an acting career that has encompassed practically everything except, maybe, a farewell tour with Edwin Booth.

Mr. Wheeler, who should not be confused with the Senator from Montana, of approximately the same name, made 46 movies as a member of the comedy team of Wheeler and Woolsey. He also has been in so many musicals that he wakes up every morning singing:

"We Are the Opening Chorus —We've Come to Say 'Hello, Hello'—"

As he went down memory lane—nice original line that, Dixon!—he got back to the Follies of 1923. It seemed that in this epic Mr. Wheeler was aided and abetted by another great dramatic star, Johnny Dooley, whose artistic specialty was falling with a terrific whack.

A gentleman by the name of Solly Violinsky had written a romantic song "After I Brought You into the Sunshine, I Left You Out in the Rain," of which he was inordinately proud. By much pleading he induced Mr. Ziegfeld to put it in the Follies.

The composer had visions of a dewy-eyed damsel standing in an amber spot and wringing the hearts of the audience as she warbled the tender refrains. But, instead, Mr. Ziegfeld elected to give the song to Wheeler and Dooley.

They worked out quite an energetic routine. Every time Mr. Wheeler would attempt to sing the opus, Mr. Dooley would stop him in some manner—by grabbing him around the neck, by pushing him over the footlights, or by doing a fall that upended both.

Emerging from the theater after the opening, Mr. Wheeler found Mr. Violinsky lurking in the stage alley. Mr. Wheeler asked him how he had liked the way his song had been put over.

"How did I like it, you murderer!" screamed Mr. Violinsky. "I am going to make orchestrations and send them to Strangler Lewis!"

* * *

COL. HAROLD BECKLEY, superintendent of the Senate Press Gallery, who can answer almost any question, was hit with a stumper the other day. The query that left the gallant colonel without an answer was posed by his father, John B. Beckley, a veteran of the Spanish-American War.

"Everybody is striking for more money," the Elder Beckley told his cute offspring. "And it's beginning to look as if everybody who has the privilege of going out on strike is going to get more money.

"Now, what I want to ask you, Harold, is this: What about us?"

Colonel Beckley said something like "What do you mean, 'us,' Pater?" Whereupon his progenitor added:

"I mean folks like me who are on a pension. Or who have absolutely fixed incomes. It costs us just as much to live. What are we going to do if wages all go up and prices go skyrocketing to meet them?

"In other words, Harold, what about us?"

* * *

* * *

MISS BETTY EULER, secretary to Sec. of the Senate Bitfle, has just become betrothed to Jack Darling, manager of the Senate restaurant.

What do you mean, what of it? I see stuff like that in the society columns all the time, don't I?

George Holland

Boston After Dark

MONDAY MUSINGS: The Pearl Harbor investigation this week should produce Gen. Marshall, retiring chief of staff, as a witness . . . It is likely you will learn "officially" that Gen. Marshall was riding horseback in Virginia the December day that Japan blasted Hawaii.

* * *

WE—FDR, YOU, I, Secretaries Knox and Stimson, Generals A and B, Admirals C and D, Secretaries Hull and Welles, Senators A-to-Z, Congressmen A-Z—were caught with our trousers flapping around out knees (and those knees were knocking . . .) If we never get caught in that embarrassing position again, the United States will be a lucky nation . . . One way to insure ourselves against such a come-off is to entrust our executives with no more power than the Constitution grants them.

* * *

All of us sensed that there was great danger in the Pacific, but none of us had leadership enough to demand that all 135,000,000 of us, instead of a power-struck dozen of us, must kibitz the play . . . They say that the Pearl Harbor investigation will dictate the next Presidential election . . . This corner does not believe it.

* * *

PHIL REGAN'S FIRST Guest Night at the Latin Quarter brought out some unexpected guests . . . Michael Todd was one of the unforeseen standouts . . . Although the famous Mr. Todd merely took a bow, he was gracious enough to talk between puffs on his Corona-Corona (adv.) . . . Michael is by the way of becoming police-listed as a voter in Boston . . . This will be his business residence, at least, until some time in February . . . He has taken quarters at the Ritz-Carlton—a mighty difficult residence to establish because of the crush of reservations, incidentally.

* * *

MR. TODD WAS AN EXPANSIVE soul at Mr. Regan's Guest Night . . . His cavalcade was with him Cpl. Bill Doll, his chief high press relations counsellor; Bill Williams, Corporal Doll's chief aide and former private first class in the Army; Dr. Louis Jolson Epstein, an over-age civilian who fought in the Second Mexican War, (the so-called punitive expedition which nearly nabbed Villa;) Capt Sid Piermont, the Todd casting director, and William G. Norton, the Todd general manager, and former pharmacist's mate in World War I aboard the USS Salem.

* * *

"We have given the play 'Hamlet' a cop and robber touch," said he . . . (Mr. Todd is producer of "Hamlet," which opens at the Opera House Wednesday, and of Bobby Clark in Moliere's "The Would-Be Gentleman," which opens Tuesday at the Wilbur) . . . "We have lightened it ('Hamlet') slightly, making it a meat and potato play which should be enjoyable to one and all." (Mr. Todd and Damon Runyon are close friends . . . And the celebrated Shakespearean actor, Maurice Evans, is playing "Hamlet," we perhaps should have mentioned.)

* * *

TO RETURN TO MR. TODD'S possible qualifications as a Boston voter . . . Our fair city this winter is his real habitat, whatever the New York voting lists may show . . . He wouldn't be able to operate, otherwise . . . After supervising the opening and closing in Boston of "Hamlet" and "The Would-Be Gentleman," Michael will be able to take a deep breath, and not much more, before he finds himself confronted with another Boston premiere of a Michael Todd show . . . That will be "January Thaw," slated for a January premiere here . . . Al Jolson in "Oh, Susannah!" comes to Boston the following month, under the sponsorship of Producer Todd . . . Then follows a Cole Porter Musical.

* * *

MICHAEL, BY THE WAY, brought to Boston a hep-ness of the way things are economically . . . With four of his paid help phalanxing him on the Latin Quarter stairs, Mr. Todd showed his knowledge of current events and trends . . . "A ringside table for m' lads, please!" he importuned Wally, the headwaiter. "It's a truly beautiful early morning in this bright new world when the employes let the boss sit with them at their table . . . Lay on, McRedstone . . . Give the check to me!"

COURTESY TO SPEAKER

Let the one who is talking tell his story in his own way. If he hesitates, it isn't your job to supply the word, or to try to horn in to tell your version of the story, or to suggest changes in details. — MRS. BECKMAN.

What It Takes to Bring You a Telephone

TO BRING YOU the telephone you want, thousands of workers are now making and installing the three essentials of telephone equipment — instruments, transmission wires and switchboards.

Telephones are being made regularly and the shortage of instruments is almost over. By early next year, we expect to provide all the telephones needed in places where switchboards and circuits are now adequate.

New equipment is also being manufactured for those places where additional central office facilities must be installed.

After four years given to the urgencies of war, the Western Electric Company is now concentrating wholly on civilian needs. New switchboards will be ready and installation will begin soon. But all this takes time. Most switchboards are individually designed and installation requires tens of thousands of wire connections, all made by hand.

It may be a year or more before all the people who want telephones will have them. But we are working on the job . . . full time . . . just as fast as we know how.

A—A man reported as missing in action is carried on War Dept. records in that status for a year, unless returned to military control before that time. At the end of the year the case is reviewed and if there is still insufficient evidence to make a finding of death, the man continues listed as missing until there is acceptable evidence or information received by the War Dept. to the contrary.

Conservatives Win in Austria

VIENNA, Nov. 26 (AP) — The conservative Austrian People's Party scored a narrow victory over the Socialists in yesterday's general election, nearly complete unofficial returns indicated today. The Communists ran a poor third.

The vote gives the People's Party between 86 and 88 seats in the 165-member National Assembly, with the Socialists winning 74 to 77 and the Communists three to five.

The elections were the first in which Austrians were given full voting freedom since 1930.

Straight Ticket

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 26 (AP)—G. M. Lakwood, only Republican membe of the Spokane County Election Commission, pulled the leer to test a new voting machie.

Commr. Wiley Brown exclaimed: "It look like he's finally converted."

Turns Dull Hair to Sparkling Gold

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

WE'VE NEVER HEARD of a blonde rushing off to change the color of her crowning glory to anything darker than spun gold. More often than not . . . the blonde lily keeps gilding her shiny, sun-kissed crop to heighten every last golden highlight.

Nor can we blame a gal for wanting to remain on the preferred list. So, if you are a girl with enviable golden hair . . . stay as you are . . . but be kind to that special beauty endowment . . . cherish it and cater to it with a specific hair wash that will mother every last strand into sparkling golden charm. If you have blonde hair . . . you've got something!

You may look less subtle than your raven-tressed sister . . . but for our money you're an eyeful of sunshine . . . and sunshine is precious in any language. More so when days are dull and drab. So be careful about the way you preserve the golden glint and be certain your head always boasts a honey luster . . . a golden-daisy vitality that's as feminine as Venus.

That's why a certain preparation . . . which originally came from France . . . and which turns dull hair to sparkling gold . . . has so many ardent devotees. Every time we write about this product we get countless "thank-yous" from readers who find in its formula the answer to keeping luscious blondes on the acclaimed list. Neither a tint nor a rinse . . . which might only lend a fitful glint or two and let it go at that . . . this preparation is to be used like any genuine hair lightener.

DEPENDABLE AND EASY TO USE

It is not a dye or a harsh bleach. For among its ingredients is plenty of camomile. The amount of gold you want to endow your hair with is strictly under your control . . . although the effect is that of turning your hair into the pure, sunlit shade you'd thought had gone with your teens. Not brassy . . . but insinuating, lovely golden in hue.

Auburn locks turn dull and fade just as surely as any other shade . . . so redheads who want to recapture some of the glint and titian loveliness they once had may also find beauty consolation in this dependable but easy to use hair glorifier. The number of applications you get from each bottle depends on the thickness and length of your hair.

For the name of this noted standby hair-lightening preparation, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

IF TIME has robbed your tresses of their moonlight mellowness . . . return the gold to your hair with a dependable wash that keeps intact the irresistible charm of blondeness over your eyes and under your bonnet. Warner's Lynn Merrick is a honey of a sun-bonnet Sue . . . an eye bewitcher and a credit to Mother Nature's handiwork.

'Sweet Sixteen' Party

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1—I am planning to have a Sweet Sixteen party a few days before Christmas. Since all the girls I'm going to invite have long party dresses, would you advise me to have my party "formal?"

2—What would you suggest for decorations?

R. D..

1—I wouldn't, if I were you, call your party "formal," since a birthday party, particularly of such young people, generally isn't formal in its plans and details. But I'm sure your girl guests will be delighted if you suggest they wear their long party dresses, giving a gala mood to your party . . . quite in the spirit of today's dressing-up inclination and also in the festive spirit of Christmas parties.

2—A "natural" for your decorations is Christmas greenery, your table lighted with white or red candles.

Refuses to Wreck Home

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX—I'm a woman of 26, in love with a married man who loves me also. He has two children. He wants to leave his family and marry me. I don't intend to hurt his children. His wife never gives him a kind word when he's at home. I'm good to him and try to make him happy.

I own a cafe and he will come there, and I have tried staying home so I wouldn't have to see him, but he comes there. I've also tried breaking up this friendship by going to another city, but my mother will tell him where I am, and then he comes after me every time. I've gone out with other men, but he will follow me and start a fight. I've never been so unhappy as I am at present.

(MISS) N. M. M.

It does you great credit that you don't want to break up a home in which there are young children. Besides, there are new complications for what is known as the "other woman." In an unprecedented suit brought before the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago, four children sued their father's girl friend for $100,000 for breaking up their home and depriving them of their father's affection and parental care. Judge Evan Evans, presiding, said: "If children are injured, why can't they obtain relief just as the mother can?" This suit is something new on the statute books.

It's a mistake for your mother to try and help things along with this married man when you wish to break it off. At 26 you can certainly have better insurance for happiness than marrying a man who wants to leave his family and forget his obligations.

The Correct Thing

ALL THE ATTENTION?—The child in the group should not be completely ignored. However, this does not mean that the youngster should be made the center of attention. A child who is allowed to monopolize the conversation is bound to become spoiled and a "show-off."

Wings on Winter Dress

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THE question as to whether girls are angels probably never will be settled to everybody's satisfaction, but it's nothing—absolutely no trouble at all for a dress designer to give them wings. This is just what one of our best known American designers, Harry Collins, is doing this winter. He fancies putting wings over your shoulders, and does so on some of his nicest winter dresses.

One of these has been sketched by Miss Dulin today. To keep the whole thing in harmony Harry Collins makes this dress of a heavenly shade of blue sheer wool. The wings that rise above the shoulders and the hem of the skirt are treated to applique that is the finest kind of work from a dressmaker salon.

Sauerkraut With Wine

By MARTHA LEE

Household Editor

IF CANNED SAUERKRAUT has been one of the scarce food items on your table, you'll be glad to know that it will be back on the market this winter. During the war, some sauerkraut was canned in glass for civilian use, but not enough to meet the demands of popular taste. Now it will appear in tin as well as glass.

Sauerkraut is a good food to include in the diet. Research proves that canned sauerkraut is an excellent source of ascorbic acid, that is, vitamin C—and that a four-ounce serving will supply more than 20 per cent of the daily requirement.

When it comes to using sauerkraut, if you are among the folks who think it should always be served with pork or ham, you have missed some mighty fine other combinations. Pork and ham are delicious with it, but probably there will not be enough on the markets for everyone these next few months, so why not try the sauerkraut and hamburg balls?

SAUERKRAUT AND HAMBURG BALLS

Use regular hamburg, or a specially ground beef, and season it just as you would for meat patties. Make small balls about 1½ inches in diameter, and fry them until they are just the way you prefer them. Meantime, heat the sauerkraut and then combine it with the meat balls and the juice in the pan. Serve plenty. This kind of food usually calls for a big first helping, or a second usual one. It is food that lives up to the old saying "good to eat and good for you, too."

Ordinary sauerkraut and frankfurters may be regarded as plain, homely fare, but anyone who has ever tasted sauerkraut at its best—simmered in white table wine—knows that this plebian food can achieve a satisfying, substantial goodness that is hard to surpass.

The use of wine in the preparation of sauerkraut is not a new idea. Old world cooks have added wine to everyday foods like sauerkraut for generations and modern cooks are rediscovering the incomparable flavor that it gives.

During the cooking process, all of the alcohol in the wine evaporates, leaving only the fine wine flavor to enhance the dish. Those who like sauerkraut will like it better cooked in white table wine; and many of those who thought they had still to cultivate a liking for this hearty vegetable, will find the taste surprisingly easy to acquire when the kraut is cooked according to the following recipe:

SAUERKRAUT, WHITE WINE

1 lb. lean pork, cut in strips (1 x 3 x ½ in.) or
1 lb. frankfurters, split in half lengthwise or sliced
¼ cup cooking fat
1½ pints sauerkraut, drained
1 onion, minced
3 apples, peeled and sliced
1 pint any white table wine
2 tbsp. brown sugar
1 large potato

Brown the pork or the cut frankfurters in the cooking fat in a large skillet. Set aside while cooking sauerkraut. Add sauerkraut to cooking fat left in skillet. Add minced onion, sliced apples, the wine and the sugar. Cover and simmer of very low heat until the liquid is reduced by half. Grate the potato and add to the sauerkraut. Top with sliced frankfurters or the strips of pork and bake or simmer for about 15 minutes longer until the potato has cooked and thickened the juices. Makes 5 to 6 servings.

BOIL SPARERIBS AND SAUERKRAUT

3 lbs. spareribs, cut in pieces
½ tsp. salt
Boiling water
4 cups sauerkraut, drained

Wipe spareribs, place in large kettle, add salt, cover with boiling water and simmer, covered, ½ hour. Add sauerkraut, bring to a boil and cook, uncovered, ½ hour. Drain slightly and serve on hot platter. Makes 6 servings.

SAUERKRAUT WITH PINEAPPLE JUICE

1 No. 2 can sauerkraut, drained (2½ cups)
1 cup canned unsweetened pineapple juice
½ tsp. salt

Place all ingredients in a covered saucepan. Add boiling water to cover. Cover and simmer for 30 minutes. Drain and serve with spareribs. Makes 4 servings.

Fashion

A LOVELY lumber jill is this youthful two-piece ensemble by Koret Knits. Ideal for the school or business girl . . . the jacket may be worn with or without blouse. Ribbed knit bands fit the sleeves and waist snugly. The tailored neckline and large patch breast pockets lend a casual air. The trim skirt with outside drawstring to regulate the size shows originality in the top stitched pleats. Strictly a heart-warmer. R. M.

We know we kept many of you waiting for cleansing service . . . during the war. We did our best—but even so there were times when our service was so slow, it was terrible.

Now we are happy to say that you can again send Coats, Suits and Dresses to be Lewandos-Cleansed—and get them back in a reasonable period of time. No one is happier about this than we are. LOW EVERY-DAY PRICES

You will get faster cleansing service on garments—and low, every-day prices. For our prices are at their lowest level in over 100 years—purposely so more people may enjoy Lewandos quality-cleansing.

For instance: Men's Business Suits . . . $1.00 for cleansing and pressing; Men's or Ladies' Top Coats—just $1.00—most Ladies' Day-time Dresses, $1.25—for Lewandos cleansing and finishing. You may be paying more than this now and not getting Lewandos Cleansing.

Men's and Ladies' Heavy Coats—just $1.25 and if they are Fur Trimmed—just 50c more—regardless of how much fur there is! That means most fur-trimmed coats are Lewandos Cleansed for only $1.50 or $1.75. You never pay more! That's why we say Lewandos prices are low—reasonable.

10,000 Hub School Pupils Cram for History Contest

On the alert to win honors for themselves and their respective schools, more than 10,000 Boston public and parochial high school students were deep in the study of American history over the week-end, preparing to compete in the annual Hearst Newspapers American History Awards.

The 20 questions which will be submitted to the contestants have been prepared under supervision of Supt. Arthur L. Gould of Boston's public schools and Rev. William J. Daly, supervisor of the parochial schools of the archdiocese.

Blanks containing these questions and the subjects of an essay of not more than 250 words which will accompany each test will be distributed on the forenoon of the examinations, to be held simultaneously in the 42 schools competing. The pupils are striving in this American history examination for prizes of $1000 locally and $25,000 nationally, all in Victory Bonds.

"I wuz thinkin'...."

by Izzy Ort

Golly, don't time fly! Las' week we wuz droolin' at the thoughts of stuffed turkey an' the fixin's an' ——Sandy Claus is gettin' ready ta climb down the chimbly! Saterday I took a matootinal walk down Washington St., durin' witch I got a twisted leg, a sore back an' a poke in the eye from people carryin' bundles an' shovin' me around! Jingle bells! Soon will come the ice an' snow an'——my rheumatism! Let 'em come! All except my rheumatism of course. When the winds is blowin' an' howlin' the place ta ferget the winds of winter will be my El Tropico Room where pleasin' tropical atmosphere makes ya think you're in the Caribbean so much that ya find sand in yer shoes when ya go home! My Grille down stairs is jest as good becuz it's the place where good fellers get tagether an' you know wat they say about good fellers and good weather. They's always tagether! From noon ta closin' ya kin jig and dance in my Grille an' the welkin rings continuously wid music an' singin'. I gotta world-wide rep wid the Navy fer my El Tropico Room an' Grille and the boys is gourin' in every day. So is my souvenirs from all over the world. Foller the boys in uniform and the men-about-town an' visit Ort's Grille, 25 Essex St., Downtown Boston.—Advt.

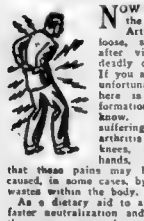
STABBED IN THE BACK BY ARTHRITIS



NOW is the time of the year when Arthritis is on the loose, stabbing victim after victim with its deadly dagger of pain. If you are one of those unfortunate people, here is important information for you to know. Many people suffering from nagging arthritis pains in back, knees, shoulders and hands, never suspect that these pains may be substantially caused, in some cases, by excessive acid wasted within the body.

As a dietary aid to assist the body's faster neutralization and elimination of these excessive acid wastes from tissues and joints, which in turn may tend to bring speedier pain relief to this extent, Vig-Ore Sodeom Tablets were devised by a well-known food nutritionist. Vig-Ore Sodeom Tablets contain food sodium and food iodine, two minerals of nutritional value which may prove to be helpful to many arthritis sufferers. Vig-Ore Sodeom Tablets are free from all harmful Chemical drugs. They positively do not contain injurious ingredients of any kind.

CUT OUT THIS ADVERTISEMENT and present it with $1.95 at any Nature Food Centres Store to get your Vig-Ore Sodeom Tablets. Take them as directed on the label and if they do not bring soothing relief to your aching joints and muscles faster than any dietary aid you have ever used, THE TRIAL IS FREE! Just return the bottle and get your money back. Vig-Ore Sodeom Tablets cost only a few cents a day to use. 250 Tablet Bottles — $1.95. (500 Tablet Economy Size, $3.25.) Mail orders sent postpaid. Voice of Exasperation From Navy's Graveyard

By AUSTEN LAKE

TAKE A LETTER! Take this one. It just arrived from a Navy "exile," an officer marooned. No! Not on some distant Pacific atoll, but at a barren pinpoint on the U. S. A. map. Go ahead, lieutenant, inform the nice people of the morbid facts.

Austen Lake

"Sir—This is written from the cemetery of the naval giants, Green Cove Springs, Fla., final resting place for hundreds of glorious ships of World War II. Here Uncle Sugar is staging one of his greatest naval pageants and, so far, one of his worst.

No cheering throngs greet the returned heroes and their proud craft. There are no committees of welcome, no tooting bands, no parades and no final requiems for the men and ships which wrote the greatest page in America's sea saga. Conditions here are strictly NSTA—"no sense to anything."

Never have we seen such lack of bureaucratic planning. Never would we have believed that an organization, so admirable in wartime, could disintegrate into fumbling dotage in time of peace. Green Cove Springs! Don't look for it on any map. It isn't marked—just a shallow river and a country crossroads with a few shacks. But you'll hear a lot about it when our ever-lovin' home folks get the details from their hero sons now stranded in this festering quagmire.

* * *

Billion-Dollar Tomb

HERE ARE THE FACTS. We were ordered to take six ocean-going ships up the strange St John's river to join some 800 destroyers, LSTs, DEs and et cetera craft at a spot some 40 miles up the turgid stream. We had no charts and no pilots. We were just told to keep the maximum draft of our ships to 13 feet, the greatest depth of the river. And at the same time we were directed from Washington to load each ship to full capacity with fuel, food and water, because such items were impossible to obtain at Green Cove. Result was the larger ships couldn't get up river without jettisoning their cargoes.

I arrived by open whaleboat and by hiking through this rattlesnake wilderness to report to Capt. Hungerford, the local commandant and a "I.O Joe," as Navy lingo labels a right guy. He's a seagoing officer with a record for getting things done, but is pegged down by a million yards of Navy red tape, which is the reddest, toughest tape in the world.

Hungerford is responsible for de-commissioning over a BILLION dollars' worth of Navy ships. He has ONE man on his staff to deal with this immense amount of property and men assigned to process the ships. There is no fresh water for drinking and our water ration is as rigidly rationed as when we were at sea. There are no shore electric installations to provide power and light, no recreation except a couple of softball fields cleared by German PWs, no laundry facilities and only a hollow mockery of any mail service.

The nearest towns are Jacksonville and St. Augustine, both 30 miles away. But, except for one rambling wreck of a jaloppy, there's no transportation. So here we are for the sole purpose of conditioning ships for a final inactivity, which includes dehumidifying, sealing and literally putting them in mothballs. Instructions are to close and seal our engine rooms. Yet we are also instructed to be ready to get underway at a moment's notice during the hurricane season. How can you deactivate active ships?

Washington also tells us that our men who do this work must live on board. There's no other place. To do this we must keep open all sleeping compartments, galleys and storerooms. We must keep the generators operative to provide light for work and the radio equipment which we are required to man. Since there are no piers or docks, we are anchored in midstream, where twice a day the changing tide swings us at anchor and threatens to beach us on the treacherous flats. It's impossible to decommission ships under such circumstances.

* * *

From Decay to Putrefaction

MY SHIP IS MORE FORTUNATE than most. We do have evaporators and can distill reasonably potable drink from the polluted, brackish river. But the majority have no purifying apparatus and appealed to Capt. Hungerford, who took it in stride and made a powerful plea to the Gold Cuffs at Washington.

So they sent us a tank barge to carry water to the anchored ships—a barge so decrepit, filthy and stinking with bilge and pollution that it was assigned as a garbage scow. So the captain tried again. This time he secured a trim, clean water barge which churned triumphantly up with 50,000 gallons of sparking aqua pura—just enough to settle it firmly in three feet of sludge.

So they had to dump the delicious liquid miles from where our tongues were dry as your boot soles. Men parched with thirst were told that this heaven's elixir was being pumped over side beyond hauling distance. It's only one of the hundreds of copyrighted stupidities by our arm-chair admirals and civilian bureaucrats.

Meanwhile confusion in our demobilization program is passing from decay to putrefaction while officers and men are going gradually insane. Directives from Washington say that no man or officer with sufficient discharge points can be retained short of dire military necessity. Yet the same people direct us that no discharges can be given until the ships are fully decommissioned, which will ooze on for uncounted time.

Last week, without warning, eight carloads of preservatives arrived. Today it is stacked in an open field because we are unable to use it until at least eight tons of silica gelatine arrives. And the contract for that is still bouncing around Washington, because the first batch was erroneously packed in 5 and 10-ounce containers instead of 5 and 10-gallon cans as specified. I could keep on all day telling about such snafus.

So this is just a skeleton outline of the blunders, and stupidities foisted on us war-weary seadogs by Washington visionaries. Somehow the men down here will survive such lunacies. But we hope that before then Green Cove will resolve into a billious blot on our memories . . . to go home.

'Wait Till Next Season' Angry Cry at Heights

By HERB FINNEGAN

Wait'll next year. Just wait until Chet Lipka, Mario Gianelli, John Burke, Ed Burns, John Furey, Patsy Darone, Bob Mangene and others of the '42 BC sub-commandos get out of the service. They'll twist DaGrosa's oxtail, shove his adjustments and compensations down his throat and atone for BC's 46-0 shellacking by Holy Cross received before 32,457 Sunday customers at Fenway Park.

That's a promise. Poor losers? Probably. But BC is always the Hatfield where the HC McCoys are concerned.

Ox DaGrosa

Funny thing! BC honestly believed it would whip HC before the game. And it didn't believe HC a bowl (Orange) selection after the game.

"We stopped Koslowski, didn't we?" they challenged. "If he's all-America, Byers should be super all-America. We had them on the run in the first period (Graham recovered a Koslowski fumble in HC territory) and if Longval had caught that first pass the game would have been entirely different."

Let's take a quick summation: HC scored in 11 minutes in the first period. Koslowski ran back a punt from midfield to the BC 29 (after BC's vain effort). In seven plays HC was over, Koslowski scoring.

Late in the period, Koslowski ran from his 33 to the eight and was on his way to a TD when he slipped in the mud. Here BC gave its best effort of the day. As the second period opened, Joe King threw Kos for a loss and BC took the ball on downs. BC's line was doing well.

In the same period, BC threw Koslowski back from BC's 30 to the 41, with third down and 23. It looked like BC's ball again but Koslowski (nobody rushing him) completed a pass to Conway on the seven. HC went on to score.

This was a replica of the Villanova game. BC's line was holding for downs and its backfield was tossing the game away. Disheartening!

Inexperience, there it tells. For all that, it took HC 7½ minutes to score from the eight-yard line.

Same second period, two minutes to go, HC on BC 45. Kos passed to Parker at 33, to Dieckleman at 20. Time was running out. Kos' shoulder was sore. De Filippo raced in and threw TD pass to Dieckleman in end zone. Pass defense again. Score 20-0.

It was all over then. BC's line, Twomey, Giordano, Joe King playing like big leaguers, had held HC repeatedly. But mistakes in judgment enabled HC's subs to kite the score.

So what?

HC goes to the Orange Bowl and Ox DaGrosa is the big chief deserved. Where does Moody Sarno get off?

His team was outgained 21 first downs to 2. His team was outrushed 292 yards to 7. His team was outpassed (completions 12-2). But his team was outweighed by HC's V-12 selectees, it was overpowered, and does that make him a second-rate coach?

Oh, he won't be there next year, no question, too many alumni are shooting at him for not producing first class teams with war-time, civilian material. But he's kept the game alive "informally" the past three seasons, and BC hasn't lost a cent of money in the bargain. He should be remembered by Buff Donelli or whomever should succeed him.

* * *

Kos carried 20 times for 117 yards. "He played his greatest game," said DaGrosa. (To which BC gave the hoot). BC said Byers was the best HC man, Dieckleman next best. End Dieckleman couldn't do anything wrong. He scored two TD's, fended end runs like Tack Hardwick . . . Kos completed 6 passes, good for 108 yards . . . Byers carried 8 times for 69 yards.

Egan and Reardon Lead Bruins to Win

By BILL GRIMES

Well, yesterday, was a grand day for the Irish. After the Crusaders and Eagles had drawn 32,457 through the turnstiles at Fenway Park, Pat Egan and Terry Reardon took over in the evening at the Garden to lead the Bruins to a win over the Maple Leafs 5-3.

According to Coach "Hap" Day, the Maple Leafs are not winning because Syl Apps and "Teeter" Kennedy have been on the injured list and Billy Taylor wants to be traded. Day also stated that Gordie Bell, who was at sea with the Canadian Navy for 22 months, isn't ready for the N. H. L.

Frank McCool has been reinstated as a member in good standing in the Maple Leaf family. He reported last Thursday and will take over the goal tending assignment as soon as he can convince Conn Smythe that he is better than Gordie Bell.

Walter Brown, general manager of the Garden and "Super" Bob Murphy are in Toronto getting a line on the Ice-Capades of 1946, which should gross better than $136,000 for six performances in the Maple Leaf Gardens this week.

Bobby Bauer returned to his old right wing position on the Flyers' line. He carried on for one period, then retired in favor of Jack McGill.

Gus Bodnar didn't make the trip with the Leafs. He sprained his wrist Saturday night playing against Rangers. Bill Ezinicki took his place on the roster but didn't see any action.

H. C. vs. Georgia

This is the way we heard it, when we heard it and where we heard it. BC was playing Villanova at Shribe Park, Philadelphia on Nov. 10. George Edmunds, Orange Bowl committeeman, came to the press box. Between halves, while sipping coffee, Edmunds revealed he was on his way to Holy Cross to present HC with an invitation to the Orange Bowl. That was the night before HC defeated Sub Base, before its defeat by Temple.

HC denied all knowledge of the offer because it was sworn to secrecy and because HC at the time was shooting for the extra "pass" which was the Sugar Bowl.

Jack Barry denied, even before he routed BC 46-0, that HC had received an offer from the Orange Bowl. But Ox Da Grosa, after the game, weakened enough to say: "I know nothing about it. Any announcement will have to come from Miami."

It is understood that Georgia, with George Trippi, will be HC's opponent, not Miami U., as advertised. There is no nationally-known star on Miami U. and Georgia's Trippi, through his "hardship" army release, will pack them in.

FINNEGAN.

Harlow to Stay In Harvard Job

There was a turnout of 50 at today's football writers' luncheon at the Kenmore, among them Bill Bingham of Harvard, Tuss McLaughry of Dartmouth, Ox DaGrose of HC and Dr. Wally Snell of Brown.

Highlight of the luncheon was the remark of Harvard's coach Dick Harlow, in Bingham's presence, to wit:

"Every year at this time the same rumors creep into print that 'Harlow will shift next fall, Harlow will shift there.' I wan to say once and for all that, God willing, I'll be at Harvard as long as they want me."

Pep Choice to Win Over Giosa in Bout Tonight

By JACK CONWAY

WILLIE PEP, world's greatest featherweight and recognized as champion in New York, will add one more victory to his impressive list of ring triumphs when he tangles with Eddie Giosa of Philadelphia in a 10-round bout at a Callahan A. C. show at Mechanics Building tonight. Pep has displayed his usual boxing brilliance since he received his discharge from service, and he figures to outpoint the youthful Giosa by a comfortable margin.

Pep has been the most consistent performer in the boxing game as he has scored more than 80 wins as a professional. Sammy Angott is the only mitt wielder who ever defeated Pep, but the latter evened up that account when he met Angott later.

Willie Pep

Pep can fight or box as he sees fit. When he met Sal Bartolo in an overweight match at the Garden, Willie took chances and as a result it was a stirring contest. In a return bout, with his precious title at stake, Pep did not take a single risk. He carried every round, but the spectators witnessed a dreary, while perfect, boxing exhibition.

Pep's title is not at stake tonight, and as a result he can afford to take a few chances.

Giosa will be a real long shot. The betting odds will be in Pep's favor at 1-10.

Giosa does not have to win to gain ring standing. If the Philadelphia youngster can go the limit of 10 rounds and make a creditable showing he will enhance his standing as a boxer. He will then be a better card here.

Giosa enters the Pep bout after a limited professional experience. He was a star as an amateur, while he has scored a few victories as a professional, but none of his bouts have been against top flight performers. The most that can be expected of the youthful Giosa tonight is that he will not be awed by Pep's standing as a boxer and that he will give the fans some action for their money.

The eight-round semi-final will feature Jack Armstrong of this city and Young Tony of New Jersey.

Priest Against Furrone

AL (RED) PRIEST of Cambridge, a former All-America champion, will try to continue his sensation run for victories when he clashes with Billy Furrone of Philadelphia in a ten-round bout at a Sharkey A. A. show at the Arena on Friday night. Since receiving his discharge from the Navy, Priest has displayed top hitting and boxing ability. His goal is a Garden bout with Fritzie Zivic and he is anxious to score a decisive win over Furrone.

Furrone had two close bouts with Billy Arnold of Philadelphia who recently won from Ralph Zanelli. Furrone is an action fighter. Priest will not experience too much difficulty hitting him. As a result, the fans should see plenty of punches tossed.

Notables Greet Marine

IT IS SELDOM that a returning war hero, who has been a star in athletics, has been greeted by as many notables as attended the luncheon that was tendered John Macciaccaro, known as "Moochy the Magnificent," at the Hotel Touraine. President Walter A. Brown of the Garden, Police Commissioner Tom Sullivan, high ranking Army and Marine officers and many civic leaders were in attendance.

Woman Pays $1300 For Dead Race Horse

Coaches Name All-Scholastic Eleven

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Echoes of lusty debates will roll through the corridors of the Hotel Lenox tonight when members of the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser Board of Coaches convene there to pick the official All-Scholastic football team for the 1945 season.

And this session, including a pair of coaches with championship clubs, should be one of the liveliest in the 12-year history of the Board.

This group will include such outstanding coaches as Dennie Gildea of Class A champs, Everett; Harry Downes of Class B champs, Brookline; Ed "Skip" Sherlock, veteran mentor from Hyde Park; Bill Ohrenberger, director of the Boston School Dept.; George Kenneally, Revere; Dave Gavin of Melrose; Henry Toczylowski, Arlington; Bill Cronin, Hingham; Bill Broderick, Salem; Mark Devlin, Lawrence, and Glenn O'Brien, Salem.

The team that they'll pick, recognized everywhere as THE official eleven, will be named later this week after complete details and pictures of the boys have been arranged.

It has been proved over the course of years that it's just about impossible for an individual to pick a team. One person couldn't possibly see enough games in the course of a campaign to do justice to the boys. And one mediocre game by a schoolboy shouldn't eliminate him from all-scholastic rating. They're just a hint of the obstacles hurdled by the Board of Coaches.

The members sleep and eat football from the start of the season to the finish.

It's quite likely that they'll be battling for this All team for long, quarrelsome hours. The meeting is scheduled for 5:45 with little hope of a break much before midnight.

The Board will be offering complete coverage of an area within a 30-mile radius of Boston. They'll move down the North Shore with Coaches Kenneally of Revere and O'Brien and Broderick of Salem. They'll have the Merrimac Valley well represented with Devlin of Lawrence.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME

Vermont's Toll Road Offers Good Skiing

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Mighty Mount Mansfield, at Stowe, Vt., which boasts the longest skiing season in New England, is proving no exception this year, for word has just been received from George Morrell, proprietor of The Lodge, that grand running now exists on the Toll Road. Thus has this fabulous "snow pocket" again maintained its tradition in offering skiing close after Thanksgiving Day.

Since the lift is not operating at this early date, a group of enthusiasts toiled up the Toll Road this past week-end, carrying their skis until they reached several inches of powder over a light base, below the halfway mark. Such hardy schussers soon found their "ski legs," as well as getting the jump on thousands of others.

In a few weeks, expected snowfalls will have transformed the many trails on Mansfield into ribbons of white, where all is in readiness for record throngs, who have already booked reservations a couple of months in advance!

★ ★ ★

Bill Whitney, of Jackson, N. H., dropped in last week to say that his slope recently was covered with three inches of the heavenly tapioca—enough to make is skiable for a while . . . Phil Robertson, manager of the Cranmore Mountain Skimobile, has the slipes graded to such an extent that a dusting will produce some sport . . . We'd say it's time to wax those boards!

★ ★ ★

OUTDOOR O. O.'s—Robert S. Kelley, of Jamaica Plain, reminds us that the initial meeting of the Municipal Fishing School and Instructional Club will be held at the Mary Curley School, Friday, Dec. 7, at 7:00 p. m. . . . All interested in this "project" are invited, and it is hoped to make up a satisfactory schedule that will please everyone.

Army-Navy Duel To Draw 105,000

The collegiate football campaign winds up with a grand flourish Saturday when the all-conquering Army cadets clash with Navy's formidible middies for the national championship, according to the Associated Press.

The game of the year will find Army rated about a four-touchdown favorite to make unbeaten but once - tied Navy its 18th straight victim over a two-year period.

About 105,000 fans, including President Truman, will pack Philadelphia's Franklin Field to see whether the middies can stop Army's touchdown twins — Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard — and crack the great Army forward wall.

Southern California and Texas University will strive to gain their respective conference nominations for the Rose and Cotton Bowls Saturday.

Texas collides with Texas A. & M. Thursday, while Saturday Rice meets Baylor, and Southern Methodist opposes Texas Christian. Unless Texas wins, the Conference fight could end up in a three and possibly a four-way tie for the championship.

Other pairings Saturday match Harvard against Yale for the Big Three title; Louisiana State vs. Tulane; Notre Dame vs. Great Lakes; Oregon State vs. Oregon; Vanderbilt vs. Tennessee; St. Mary's Navy vs. California; Georgia vs. Georgia Tech, and Clemson vs. Wake Forest.

Oklahoma, Gaels Sugar Bowl Foes

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 26 (AP) —Oklahoma A. and M. and St. Mary's will meet in the Sugar Bowl football game here on Jan. 1, A. B. Nicholas, president of the New Orleans Mid-winter Sports Ass'n which stages the Sugar Bowl program, announced this morning that the teams had accepted the bowl invitation.

The Oklahoma Aggies, unbeaten champions of the Missouri Valley Conference, have defeated eight opponents, rolling up 252 points to opposing teams' 63.

The St. Mary's Gaels have won six victories and were defeated only by the University of California at Los Angeles, in a 13 to 7 upset.

This is the first time that both Sugar Bowl contestants have come from west of the Mississippi river.

Six Million Fans Bet $444,557,992 in N.Y.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 26 (AP) —Almost six million racing fans poured $444,557,992 into the parimutuel machines at New York's flat, hunt and harness meetings this year, and the state received a record-breaking tax revenue of $32,463,542.

The state's share, the largest since pari-mutuel betting was legalized in 1940, brought tax returns from the sport to more than $100,000,000 for the five-year period, the state tax department announced Saturday.

A total of 5,819,916 fans attended the various meets.

Hitler Planned Murder to Get Czechs

Hang Out—Lt. Gen. Walter Lorenz, former head of the Luftwaffe recruiting system, can't get any one to do his laundry at the PW camp at Hersfeld, Germany . . . so he does his own. Nearly 300 generals and admirals are confined there.

His Pal—It's safe to bet that young Lindy Blasche is looking for a big payoff come Christmas morn. He's bestowing oodles of affection on Santa in a New York department store.

Winners All—These five wire-haired dachshunds have something to bark about . . . as they pose with the ribbons they won at a dog show in New York. The winner at right, seems to be trying to out-bark the others in their victory serenade.
